GRAND OPENING

THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

Your committee on correspondence would recommend that you centinue the correspondence so auspiciously begun between you and the other bodies with whom you now maintain friendly and fraternal relations. At the present time the church of Christ has great need of closer union and concert of action, in order to resist and overcome her foes, who in mignty masses are coming down upon her to accomplish if possible her destruction. The forces of infidelity and fanaticism have already been marshaled. The battle-cry is sounded and they are hurling their deadly misslies against her. Let the churches then be united for mutual protection and defense. Let them cease their attacks upon each other, and face and fight the common enemy. Let them unite in one mighty phalanx, and though they may proceed to battle in their different regiments and under their respective captains, let them have a common standard—the standard of the holy cross—and let the banner bear the motto. "One is our master, even Christ, and all we are brethren." Thus united and inspired by the spirit of love, glorious success would crown their efforts, and Christ would soon be able to bestow upon his church the gift which his Father promised to him: the beathen for an inheritance and the ultermost parts of the earth for a possession. We have considered the several papers referred to us, and are gratified to find that the communication from the accredited delegates from the other churches appointed to bear to rou the salutation of their respective bodies, breathing a fraternal and christian spirit, its corresponding delegate to the ecclestastical bodies herein named. We recommend the following: FANS THIS DAY. Led Astray fans-very pretty and cheap.

Yesterday Judge J. E. R. Ray, of the crim-inal court, charged the grand jury for the May term at length. In the main his charge was identical with that delivered by him at the commencement of the last term to the old grand jury, and which charge was pubished in the APPEAL of that date. The reent legislature, however, passed a number of acts as to crimes and misdemeanors which Judge Ray had to charge upon, and upon these acts he charged as follows: CHARGING WHARFAGE ON RIVERS.

By an act of the last general assembly it is made a misdemeanor for any owner, lessee or agent in charge of any wharf upon any of the rivers of this State, when the same is kept for profit, to make or collect any charges for wharfage when the same is not in good repair. Sec. 2. Be it further enacted. That nothing in this act be so construed as to operate as a pardon for any offense beretofore committed: but persons indicted.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted. That nothing in this act be so construed as to operate as a pardon for any offense heretofore committed; but persons indicted or presented for carrying dangerous weapons under the law now in force, shall be tried under said laws, and punished as therein required.

Sec. 3. Be it further enacted. That this act shall Sec. 3. Be it further enceled. That this act shall not apply to any person employed in the army, navy or marine service of the United States, or to any officer or policeman while bona fide engaged in his official duties in the execution of process, or while searching for or engaged in arresting criminals; nor to persons who may have been summoned by such officers or policemen in the discharge of their said duties, and in arresting criminals, and transporting and turning them over to the proper authorities; and provided further, that said persons who may be employed in the army, navy or marine service, as aforesaid, shall only earry such pistols as are prescribed by the army and navy regulations.

(ANCHOR LINE) The foregoing acts of the legislature were prompted by the highly commendable purpose of suppressing a great evil, that of ha bitually carrying concealed weapons, too often resulting in the taking of human life, when really there was no necessity for it. A man who arms himself for aggressive purposes, or simply to be prepared for any and all contingencies that may possibly arise, and without any apparent or real necessity thereof, merits the highest punishment under the law, and the courts and juries of the country should not besitate in the rigid enforce-ment of the law in such cases. A man who habitually carries a deadly weapan about his person for the sole purpos of being armed, is a dangerous man, not be cause he is a brave man, but because he reties upon the use of such weapons, under all ircumstances, to resent insults or injuries whether real or imaginary, often resulting in the destruction of human life and bringing ruin and distress upon the friends and families of all parties. It is not every carrying of arms that is criminal. A man has a right to keep arms for the defense of himself and family, and on his premises, and incident to that right he would have a right to buy them and carry them home, to carry them to be repaired, and home again after such repairs. It is the intent or purpose of being or going armed that constitutes the offense defined in the foregoing statute. Unfortunately for the peace and safety of the community, very few of that class of the community who go armed for offensive or aggressive purposes are ever punished for that offense, for they avoid detection until they are guilty of mur der, or some higher crime into which the esser offense is merged, or lost sight of by the enormity of the higher crime.

It is possible to do this even in regions of country where miasma is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidal types. The immense popularity of Hosteiter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fever billious remittents, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the west and south where complaints of this nature prevail, and in the tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted as a substitute for the
